If you have any questions regarding your personal data, please contact us at datenschutz@zkw-group.com.

Protecting our personal data is of special importance to us. We process your data exclusively on the basis of applicable legal provisions, in particular the General Data Protection Regulation of the EU (GDPR), the Austrian telecommunications act (TKG 2003), and the respectively applicable data protection legislation of the member states.

Group-wide ZKW supplier database (joint responsibility)

Upon registration at our Supplier Portal, we will process the personal data provided by you for the purpose of contract performance and to carry out pre-contractual measures for the following purposes: processing of quotations and requests, management and execution of contracts, current customer care and provision of information, management of master data and changes to contract information. The conclusion and performance of a contract with us are only possible if we process your personal data.

BRIGHT MINDS, BRIGHT LIGHTS.

Your personal master data and contact details (name, university degree, function/role, professional e-mail addresses, professional telephone number, bank details) will be stored in a group-wide supplier database for the purpose of organising procurement across companies. This is meant to ensure that you can be considered as a supplier and contacted by purchasers throughout the entire ZKW Group, and that your data can be processed for the purpose of contract management. Accordingly, with respect to the processing of said personal data, all of the ZKW companies stated above are joint controllers within the meaning of Art. 26 GDPR.

Therefore, these companies have concluded an agreement under Art. 26 GDPR that delimitates the different duties and responsibilities under data protection law among all the parties involved. This joint processing of personal data will be effected on the basis of legitimate interests of the controllers regarding the establishment of a group-wide purchasing organisation/supplier database. While each controller is responsible themselves for (i) meeting the duties to provide information under Art. 13 and 14 GDPR, (ii) keeping a processing register, (iii) cooperating with the local supervisory authorities, (iv) notifying data subjects in case of any data protection incidents involving a high level of risk, and (v) appointing a data protection officer, the remaining duties under the GDPR were assigned to ZKW Group GmbH; this concerns, in particular, the management of the below-stated rights of data subjects, ensuring appropriate technical and organisational measures, the meticulous handling of data protection incidents, as well as the control of any processors.

Therefore, ZKW Group GmbH (datenschutz@zkw-group.com) is a point of first contact for each supplier and all data subjects in matters concerning data protection legislation in the context of this Supplier Portal.

Your data will be stored until termination of your work for us or any other joint controller mentioned herein for contact purposes. If no contract is awarded, the data shall be stored until you delete your profile – after all, the Supplier Portal serves the purpose of presenting your company within the ZKW Group, among others.

Until erasure of your data from the Supplier Portal, you will be visible for us and any other of the joint controllers stated herein for the purpose of getting in touch with you/for contract management. If a supplier relationship exists, the data required for that purpose will be stored during the statutory retention periods, and will subsequently be deleted.

Assertion, exercise or defence of legal claims

If a legal dispute occurs during an active contractual relationship or after its termination, the data reasonably required for the litigation will be transferred to legal representatives and courts on the basis of our legitimate interest in establishing, exercising or defending any legal claims.

Audits

Due to the risk of liability and observance of the required reasonable care, at our company, audits will be performed by the controllers themselves, the shareholders or independent external auditors.

BRIGHT MINDS, BRIGHT LIGHTS.

Data processing for the purposes of system administration and IT-security

Due to operational necessity, to applicable statutory data security provisions, as well as for reasons of information security, a set of your personal data will be processed within the scope of our legitimate interests and the legal requirements applicable to the administration and security of the system. For instance, this comprises computer-assisted preparation and archiving of text files (e.g. correspondence). Without such data processing, the system cannot be operated securely.

If access to ZKW (internal) systems is necessary for the fulfilment of the contract, the following also applies: Based on our legitimate interest, an automated check of log files is carried out for the purpose of detecting weak points or suspicious behaviour in ZKW-internal IT systems or ensuring the functionality of ZKW-internal systems. If suspicious behaviour is detected (e.g. misuse of IT services), alarms are triggered which are subsequently examined by external analysts (contract processors). In order to be able to carry out historical analyses, the contents of the log files are stored for a maximum of 365 days (or they must be deleted by external analysts after 7 days at the latest).

ZKW newsletter and invitations to company events

It is our legitimate interest for our business partners to receive information about any news regarding the company, about new products and also invitations to various business events.

Data processing for the investigation of whistleblowing reports / compliance cases

In order to resolve whistleblowing reports and in the event of (suspected) compliance violations, it may be necessary to inspect professional communications (e.g. E-Mails) and data on company devices of ZKW employees for reasons of overriding operational interest. Third-party data may therefore also be affected by the inspection. This will only be done in individual cases in exceptional situations where there is a concrete, strong suspicion and to an extent that is limited to what is necessary. We only store the personal data that is obtained in the process for as long as we need it to fulfil the purposes outlined and our legal obligations.

The technical operation of the whistleblowing portal is carried out by the ZKW companies in a joint manner. Pursuant to Article 8 (4) of the austrian HSchG, a joint responsibility within the meaning of Article 4 (7) in conjunction with Article 26 GDPR therefore applies.

Accordingly, an agreement pursuant to Art. 26 of the GDPR was concluded between the companies, which defines the different obligations and responsibilities under data protection law between all parties involved. This joint processing of personal data relates to the joint technical operation of the whistleblowing portal.

Corporate transactions

Your data may also be disclosed or transferred to interested parties and buyers in the event of (i) a due diligence process or (ii) a corporate transaction or restructuring. This is done in compliance with strict confidentiality rules and in the case of the due diligence process to a very limited extent due to our legitimate interests. In this context, in the role of the buyer, we may also receive data from third parties in a (contractual) relationship with the transferring company and process it in our systems. Depending on the type of data, we rely on the same legal bases, in particular in order to take preparatory actions for the takeover of the contractual relationships and then to continue these.
